OPPOSES SALES TAX

Editor Courier: In reply to numerous inquiries from interested tax payers as to the gross sales tax which will probably come before the next legislature, I wish to again express as clearly as I can that I will work for reduced taxes and not for higher taxes. I will oppose a general sales tax to the very last.

MORGAN MAN ORATOR

Richmond, Ky., May 30—On Sunday, May 28th, 1933, Frances Key Council No. 173, Junior Order American Mechanics and Richmond Council No. 16, Daughters of America broke the records in Memorial and Decoration day in the city of Richmond, Kentucky. Promptly at one o'clock P. M. the two Councils met in Frances Key Council Chamber with representatives from the two organizations from Lexington Winchester, Clay City and Revenna. Over 500 members of the Daughters of America and Junior Order were present. After the necessary preliminaries, form a parade on the Court House Square, headed by Henry Clay Council Band No. 53 of Lexington, numbering 32 pieces and marched down Main street to the cemetery, at which place a number of times were played. The principal Memorial address for both councils was delivered by Past State Councilor, Elder J. D. Hunter of Caney, Kentucky, which follows:

"Fellow countrymen members of the J. O. U. American Mechanics and Daughters of America: The duty we have assembled to perform is one of the most solemn and sad that comes to humanity. It is to manifest our affection and remembrance for those of our fraternal circle whose hands have been unshaken from ours by death, those whom we have called brothers and who have met with us at our fraternal gatherings, sharing our labors and our pleasures, but into whose friendly eyes we can no more look, and whose voices can never again counsel and cheer us. Though nothing now is left to us of our hero dead but a majestic memory, the women of the south have given to us the beautiful custom of honoring this memory on a day set aside for this purpose. On this day flowers are laid on the graves of these heroes, and thus the spark of memory and honor is fanned to a greater heat."

In 1886 General John A. Logan, then commander-in-chief of the grand army of the Republic, issued a general order setting aside the 30th day of May for the purpose of strewing flowers on the graves of soldier dead. The north and the south now join hands in the observance of Decoration Day, for they shared alike in the losses of the Spanish-American War and the World War.

Indelible as our memories should be in connection with our hero dead they often prove very limited. Even though personally we carry no grief, we could share with some sorrow laden persons their memories, and thus more vividly be able to realize the true meaning and value of Memorial Day.

The memories of our soldiers who died while fighting life's battles as well as war's battle are treasures that gleam through the hurry and strife of the present day.

Pause for a brief space to remember the good that those who have gone before and paved the way for us have done.

perform some act of commemoration of their bravery. Think what have you done to keep the memory of your life alive after you are gone, remembering that to live in hearts we leave behind is not to die.

Death is written upon everything that has life. We say to the beautiful flowers that bloom in our gardens during the summer: "Oh, beautiful flowers, stay with us always." But the frosts of October touch the flowers and they die. The majestic oak that has stood in the forest for centuries, defying the winds of many winters, at last lies in the track of the storm and dies. The babe that nestled so close to the mother's breast must be put away in the cold and darkness. The laughter freezes upon the lips of the girl and roses fade from her cheek. Strong manhood that looked out into the future, anticipating many years of usefulness and happiness, after a brief illness, is borne to the grave. Old age comes on apace and the hand upon the dial place of time marks sixty, seventy, seventy-five. The form is bent, the eye is dimmed, the step is un-

FOREST RESERVE

Congressmen interested in the project have been notified by regional forester, Joseph Kireher, that the federal government will establish a national forest reserve of approximately 500,000 in what will be termed the Cumberland purchase and include acreages from the counties of Rowan, Bath, Morgan, Menifee, Powell, Wolfe, Lee, Estill, Jackson, Rockcastle and Owsley counties.

It is not known here just what the regulations will be as to continuous territory acreage. The government price limit is said to be from $2 to $3 per acre and no considerable acreage block in Morgan county can be purchased for that sum.

W. E. Hedges of the United States Forest Service is expected to open an office at Winchester this week and direct from there the negotiations for the land.

It is the hope of those closely identified with the movement that enough land can be purchased by July 1 to justify establishing two groups civilian conservation corps men in the camps by then. As additional land is acquired more camps would be established.

BETTER!

West Liberty came from behind to defeat Stanton 4-3 in the seventh round in the Kentucky-Red River League. Things looked mighty dark until the last half of the ninth when Lockwood Elam slugged to left field. Carl Elam slugged to center advancing Lockwood to second. Wyant fled out. Henry Stacy doubled to deep center scoring Lockwood Elam and Carl Elam, going to third on the throw home. Stanton pulled Straine in favor of Crowe. Crowe trying to get a pitch out to keep Fannin from bunting, made a wild pitch and Stacy scored the winning run.

We liked Fannin's spectacular catch out in right field—we liked especially the way the boys pulled it out of the fire.

We would have liked to have seen more people come out to support the team.

Lets go to Stanton to see the next game Sunday. W. D. Sparks

Old Money

In going over some old papers which had belonged to his grandfather, J. J. McGuire, Manford Fraunce of Matthews came across some real money of a century ago. Two bank notes very much alike and both dated 1853 and looking very much like present day bank issues except that they are printed on one side only were found. One is a $5 note (bill) on Bank of Virginia, Richmond, Va. and reads "Promissory to pay five dollars on demand at their banking house." The other is a $1 note (bill) and reads the same way but was issued by Kentucky Trust Company Bank at Covington, Ky.

Both are signed by the president and cashier of the respective banks.

The thermometer registered 92 yesterday.

steady, and old age lotters to the tomb.

The soldier who has been the victor of many a well-fought battle is at last conquered by death. All must die, but while it is a great fact that death is in the world, and all must die, it is also a great fact that there is victory over death through Jesus Christ. When our heavenly Father saw the whole world lost, condemned, and in ruins, without a ray of hope, His heart moved in compassion toward us. He looked through His vast domains and selected the dearest object, the richest jewel, that which lay nearest His own heart; His only begotten and well loved Son, and He gave Him to come into the world, to be born of us to live for us, and at last on Calvary to die for us.

County Merchants Resolve

At a meeting of the Morgan County Merchants association at the courthouse Friday afternoon of last week, the following resolutions were adopted unanimously:

"First: We are opposed to any increase of the present tax burden on the people of Kentucky; and we are unalterably opposed to the proposed sales tax, which, if adopted, would increase the tax burden on the necessities of life, and would drive business from Kentucky.

"Second: We favor the gradual reduction of the present state debt by the elimination of all unnecessary expenses and by the enforcement of the strictest governmental economy, rather than thru any increase of the tax burden under present distressing economic conditions.

"Third: We favor the enactment of legislation by the next session of the legislature for reduction and retrenchment in governmental expenses and for strict budgetary control of county and state expenditures.

"Fourth: We are in favor of and shall work for a better system in our rural schools, and will use every reasonable effort of our organization to secure better pay for our rural school teachers."

By motion unanimously adopted, it was declared that "the association wants to hear from all candidates for state and county offices whether they approve or disapprove the resolutions adopted by the association, with their reasons for such approval or disapproval."

The following merchants were elected as additional members of the board of directors of the association: Herbert Hammonds of Cottle, Earl Tredway of West Liberty, Jas. H. Harper of Caney, and J. W. Fannin of Crockett.

There was some discussion of the resolutions of the Kentucky Merchants' Association favoring the proposed constitutional amendment to permit the removal of all state taxes on real estate and favoring legislation to take away from the state tax commission the power to make arbitrary raises in the property assessments of the counties. The following committee was appointed to study these questions and report at the next meeting of the association: O. B. Arnett, Jas. Harper, Earl V. Tredway, J. W. Fannin, J. B. May, Mrs. Amy McClain, and L. L. Williams.

In opening the meeting, Pres. W. L. Murray delivered the following address:

I want to assure you that I feel greatly honored by having been placed at the head of this worthy organization. In the beginning I want to understand that I have nothing in mind save to shoot center and work with you for the betterment and welfare of our organization throughout our county and state.

Although our organization is in its infancy, I feel very proud indeed of the spirit and present membership, and I feel assured that we will have a large, splendid, and enthusiastic membership in our organization.

There are approximately 110 merchants in Morgan county and I feel assured that we will be able to secure around 75 percent of these to membership in our organization.

Some of you, of course, may want to know what it is all about. First I might say that we are unalterably opposed to the 2 percent Gross Sales Tax, now advocated by our Governor and State Tax Commissioner, which if adopted, would increase the tax burden on the necessities of life, and would drive business from our state. This tax of course is to be collected from the retail merchants all over the state.

To make it plain, it would mean that each merchant would give, in taxes, the whole of one week's sales each year. Example: If your sales are running $50 daily on an average, or $300 per week, it would mean approximately $300 that you would be giving annually. Is there any merchant who believes that this tax can be passed on to the consumer? I am persuaded to say no. Should you be able to pass it on, do you think it fair and just to tax the necessities of life and let this burden fall on the ones that are most unable to pay it? I am persuaded to believe that we will all say no.

Now, my good merchants and friends, I am persuaded to say and believe that we should join hand in hand and work as we have never worked before to see that men are elected in our county to represent us at our next legislature and stand four square against the proposed sales tax.

I feel that the state organization of retail merchants has accomplished one main object, to wit: The Retail Merchants association asked our governor for representation on his reorganizing program to be submitted to our 1934 legislature.

My guest has been granted and the governor has appointed Dr. C. H. Parsons, president of Kentucky Merchants' association, as a member on that committee.

May I ask you, fellow merchants, to give us your membership, and your most valuable time and influence to aid us in this much needed work.

It is not our intention to enter politics except where it affects our interests. But I do think we should know just where our candidates for representative and senate stand on the question that concerns us.

There are many things that our organization can accomplish if we only stand four square for the betterment of our state and county.

Through our influence we may be able to put our rural schools on a higher plane and do something to help our underpaid rural school teachers.

Here's hoping that we have a successful organization and that we may be found at all times standing four square for the things that are for the betterment of our state, county, schools and churches.

LADIES AID MEETS

The Ladies Aid Society of the Caney City Union church met for their regular meeting Thursday, May 25, at the home of Mrs. G. W. Leslie.

The president, Mrs. A. C. Carter, presided at the meeting and gave the devotional which was opened by singing "I Am Happy in Him." After the roll call, the secretary, Miss Sallie Minor, read the minutes of the preceding meeting which were approved and signed.

The treasurer, Mrs. M. R. Elam, reported that some small receipts had been made in the church and that the church lawn had been mowed. The payment of these expenditures was authorized.

A poem, "Springtime in Kentucky," which was contributed by Mrs. DeWitt Taylor, was read by the hostess.

After the devotional and business meeting, the afternoon was spent in piecing quilts.

Refreshments of toasted sandwiches and iced tea were served.

Present were: Mrs. D. P. Peyton, Mrs. Phil Donovan, Mrs. DeWitt Taylor, Mrs. Asa Carter, Miss Lula Carter, Mrs. W. T. Stamper, Mrs. Thomas Davis, Miss Sallie Minor, Mrs. M. P. Briscoe, Mrs. G. W. Leslie and Mrs. M. R. Elam.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT

If rural taxes are to come down, the economy axe must be applied ruthlessly to county government. This is the conclusion reached by Governor Pollard of Virginia. He outlines his plan and platform very clearly and forcibly in an interview with Wheeler McMillan, veteran agricultural economist and associate editor of The Country Home, national farm magazine.

"If county government is not quickly reformed, economic pressure will lead to the counties being abolished," declares Governor Pollard. "The only body that can impose a tax on a Virginia farm is the board of supervisors, elected by the people of the county. They lay the taxes and spend the money."

"The heaviest burden of direct taxation on the rural citizen is from the county government. Yet, as most counties are organized county government is scattered, disjointed, and irresponsible. Waste and inefficiency are unavoidable, because of the system, unless changes are made."

And changes are being made in the counties of Virginia. Mr. McMillan shows. No state, he says, has made more real advances in eliminating the wastes and evils that are inherent in the needless, expensive, awkward form with which the nation's 3000 counties struggle along.

Virginia is experimenting with more different forms of county government than any other state. For 300 years Virginia has been a laboratory where the people have worked out self-government. Recently liberal legislatures have been paving the way for more effective government in the Virginia counties. Governor Pollard appointed a commission to study the whole set-up and to devise optional new forms that might be submitted to the voters. In consequence, one county now has a full-fledged county manager, and another a modified form of county management. And any county is now free to adopt one or the other of these forms. Consolidations of counties are permitted, but no counties have actually consolidated. The tendency is rather to effect economies by consolidating county functions while leaving the county boundaries intact. Mr. McMillan feels that definite and real progress is being made.

SADIE FLORINE POTTS

Sadie Florine Potts died at her home at Owensboro on June 3, 1933, after a period of affliction with sleeping sickness of about thirteen years.

Sadie Florine was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Cartmell and was born at West Liberty, May 19, 1862. She was married June 13, 1914 to W. S. Potts and became a member of the Christian church at this place at the age of 24 years. Mrs. Potts was devoted to her church and when she moved with her husband to Corydon, Indiana, she transferred her church membership to that place.

Mr. Potts is production superintendent for the Louisville Gas and Electric Company and Mr. and Mrs. Potts have been living at Owensboro for the past few years.

It was Mrs. Potts' request that her body be brought to West Liberty to rest with members of her family and friends who had passed into the spirit world.

Besides her husband, who was truly devoted to her, she leaves two sisters—Mrs. W. H. Goveidon and Mrs. W. H. Forman both of Ashland—and two brothers—W. W. Cartmell of Winchester and E. T. Cartmell of Blanchester, Ohio.

Funeral services were conducted at the Christian church with Rev. Harlan Murphy in charge at 2 P. M. Monday, June 5. A union choir rendered impressive musical numbers and Mrs. J. L. Blair sang a beautiful solo. The large church was filled to capacity. Not for many years has there been such a wonderful floral display here as was so elegantly displayed on this occasion.

We note the following out of town persons present at the funeral: H. C. Hume, Owensboro; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tempest, Mrs. Clifford Hurst and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Elliott, of Corydon, Indiana; Mr. and Mrs. Lexie Steele, West Point, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Goveidon and son, W. H. Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Forman and daughter, Wandalee, of Ashland, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cartmell, Winchester, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Cartmell and daughter, Allene, of Blanchester, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Eaton of Oil Springs; and A. A. Yunkers and C. M. Lattis, of Louisville; Mrs. Tom Wells, of Lexington; and Mrs. Guy Leslie and Mrs. M. R. Elam of Caney City. Burial in the Barber cemetery.

COUNTY AGENTS COLUMN

To Improve Poultry Industry

Improvement in the quality of Kentucky eggs and the development of better markets for the poultry products of this state, will be considered at the ninth annual poultry short course at the Experiment Station at Lexington June 25-30. Poultry farmers, producer dealers, hatcherymen and other interested persons have been invited to the Experiment Station on Thursday, June 29, when special consideration will be given to the production of high quality eggs and the opening up of markets that will pay for such eggs.

This will be the ninth consecutive year that the College of Agriculture has arranged this special short course where busy farmers, poultry raisers, hatchery operators, dealers and other persons can learn the essential principles in the proper care of poultry and poultry products.

In addition to lectures and talks, laboratory work will be given in culling, selection of breeding stock, and operating incubators, brooders and other equipment. The course will be open to all persons free of charge.

Kentucky Farm Radio Program

The College of Agriculture will broadcast the following farm radio program from the University of Kentucky extension studios of WLVA the week of June 12.

June 12—Tips from cow testers.

June 13—Pullets may be called now, C. E. Harris. Handling the tobacco crop, R. A. Hunt.

June 14—Grain harvesting machinery, J. B. Kelley. What is home demonstration work? Myrtle Weldon.

June 15—Raspberries, Marle Barkley. Home agents save dollars, Lillie Logan.

June 16—What farm folks are asking, L. C. Brewer.

Livestock Need Salt

A statement from the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, calls the attention of farmers to the need of salting livestock. Salt is especially necessary at this time of the year, as animals require more salt on pasture than they do in winter.

Some farmers think salt given livestock on pasture causes scours. This is true only when animals not accustomed to salt are given an excessive amount. If animals have not been receiving salt regularly, then care must be exercised. It is best to salt them lightly for a day or two, before giving them free access to salt.

The best method to follow is to have salt where the livestock can have it at will. Salt in block form should not be used where it must be left in the open. If a shed is available, place loose salt in it in a trough or box.

The chlorine in salt is necessary for the health of animals. It is one of the chief ingredients in the production of hydrochloric acid, which aids digestion. Better and cheaper gains are made when animals have all the salt they want.

The Agricultural Act

The commodities listed in the National Agricultural Adjustment Act as basic were chosen, in part, because they are practically all on an export basis and have suffered relatively greater price declines than have other farm products. Another reason for choosing this list of products is that they are processed in a substantial amount.

The act gives the secretary of agriculture power to compensate farmers who reduce their production. Funds with which to pay farmers for taking land out of cultivation are to be raised from fees or charges on processing of commodities; that is, on making wheat into flour, cotton into cloth, tobacco into chewing, smoking and cigarettes, and the like.

The act recognizes that it may be necessary to curb production, if prices are to be held at a higher level, as better prices would tend to stimulate production. This provision was made for voluntary reduction in acreages and payments to farmers who cooperate to prevent surpluses.

Sheep raisers, fruit and vegetable growers, poultry farmers and producers of other products may also profit, directly or indirectly from the Act. Changes in the prices of basic commodities ordinarily tend to influence other farm products. Moreover, the Secretary of Agriculture may, in exercising authority granted under the Act, enter into agreements with associations of producers or with processors and distributors of agricultural commodities that compete with the products named in the Act, in case competition by them may interfere with carrying out the purpose of the Act.

J. H. Taulbee, of Louisville, visited over the week end with his aunt, Mrs. Lane Holliday, at Anso, and accompanied her to Grayson, Monday.

WOMEN'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE MOTOR CAR

There is some doubt that people care to hear very much about what goes on under the hoods of their cars.

The driver knows that "driving qualities" are not accidental; they are put there. How the manufacturer creates or evolves those results may not interest him. He judges entirely by the results he gets in driving.

Well, it is not essential to talk "shop"; let us talk Results.

Smoothness. Drive the Ford V-8 and you will find that the engine runs with surpassing smoothness, due to its design and the extra precise methods of its manufacture.

Power. There it is, 75 horsepower (we could say 80) at the drive-shaft for the driver's use. With less weight to pull around, the mettle of this car—its life-like response—is rather remarkable.

Economy. Our V-8 develops more power on a gallon of gasoline than any car we have made. Mileage is partly a matter of individual driving, but under average conditions the Ford V-8 does 17 to 20 miles a gallon. Of course, car economy is not only a matter of fuel. Ford V-8 has that too, but it is also economical in the complete sense—initial cost, operation, maintenance.

Appearance. This is woman's contribution. The motor car must not only be useful, but also good-looking. View the Ford V-8 and you will not need our comment on its fine appearance.

Comfort. This also is woman's concern. In 30 years she changed the motor car from a wagon to a coach. Comfort is a quality made up of numerous ingredients. There is no comfort without a quiet, smooth-running engine. We have all the other ingredients too—color, good taste, quality, ease, safety, roominess and convenience.

Personal

If the sack of life is heavy,
And success seems far away,
Do not stumble, do not falter—
Keep on trying, it will pay!

It is an easy conscience rather than an easy bed that brings restful sleep.

Miss Helen Owsley and her brother, John, are visiting relatives this week in Pineville.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Gevedon and son, of Ashland, were dinner guests of L. B. Reed and wife, Monday.

It isn't what a man has on him, but rather what he has in him that counts.

Mrs. L. B. Reed and Mrs. Lucian
Reed entertained the following guests for dinner Sunday: Mr. and Mrs.
Clyde Lewis and Cister Jones of Cannel City.

Mr. and Mrs. Newt Perry, of Lenox,
Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Stacy and family and Mr. and Mrs. James Perry were dinner guests at the home of W. H.
Stacy, Sunday.

Dr. C. B. Stacy, of Pineville, and
H. R. Stacy and friends, Mr. and Mrs.
White of Berger, Texas, spent the week end with the Stacy boys' parents.
Mr. and Mrs. Willie Stacy at this place.

Mrs. Catherine Seltz Lewis, of Ashland, was the guest of Mrs. W. P.
Elam Tuesday.

Tom Daniel, of Paintsville, visited Sunday with his relatives, W. W. Mc-Guire and daughters.

Misses Edna and Ruth McKenzie visited in Lenox Tuesday with their grandmother, Mrs. J. D. Dennis.

Mrs. Beecher Green, of Wrigley, visited her sister, Mrs. W. A. Caskey, the first of the week and called on other relatives in town, returning home yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hager Henry and little son, Earl, spent the week end with Mrs. Henry's parents, Mr. and Mrs.
Frank Kennard at Rockhouse, and called on friends in town Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Geredon and son, William Harold, of Ashland, also W. S. Potts and Mr. Hame, of Owensboro, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs.
Henry Cole Sunday night and Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cole, of Wil-more, brought their little son, Robert Jr., on his first trip to his grandparents Sunday. He is a fine little man and grandfather and grandmother Cole are as proud of him as are his parents.

Wyck McKenzie was in Louisville
the past week with his brother, Bruce, who graduated from the School for the Blind. Their father, W. M. Mc-Kenzie, motored over and they returned with him Tuesday. Bruce is a fine young man and, with his parents, we are proud of his successful school career.

The Morehead students are home for a vacation. The following are the names obtained: Mr. and Mrs. Opa McKenzie, Clifford Meyers, James
Perry, Wendell Nickell, Edna Mc-Kenzie, Euna Potter, Elmer Craft, Edward Keeton, Carl and Anna Henry, Hamilton Frisby, Gladys Short, Woodrow Barber, Oscar Elam, Irene
Barber, Mildred Whitl, Christine Lewis, Zola and Catherine Haney.

Drexel Barber, of Dehart, called on friends in town Sunday.

Rev. I. J. Scudder filled his regular appointments in the M. E. church Sunday, morning and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter, of Lexington, spent Saturday night and Sunday with their cousin, W. W. McGuire and daughters, Miss Florence and Miss Josephine.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldeck Perry and two little daughters, Peggy and Mary, of Barboursville, spent the week end with Mrs. Perry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Daniel, of Memphis, Tennessee, came in early Sunday morning and are spending the week with their grandfather, W. W.
McGuire and daughters.

Mrs. A. P. Guillert, of this place, left Monday for Louisville to attend the graduation exercises of her son, Stanley, of the Dental University. From there she will go to Henry county to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J.
Day, then visit her brother, W. K.
Day of Oldham county.

At this late hour, it comes to our ears that owing to the Women's Bible class of the Christian Sunday school winning the contest on, with the Men's Bible class, the men put on one of the finest banquets of the season, in the basement of the church and invited the women. The menu might have been planned by an epicure, a noted chef must have prepared the delectable dishes, but the Men's Class actually made the delicious ice cream and the service would have done credit to the most aristocratic dining hall in Louisville.

BLACK-ELLIOTT

Mr. Curtis Elliott and Miss Eva
Black drove to Grayson Friday, June 2nd, were quietly wedded, then took a little trip to Ashland, where they visited the bride's uncle and aunt,
Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bradley.

The bride is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Black east of town. She is one of Morgan county's high school graduates.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Elliott of Lizzie. He has taught several years and has the home school for the coming year.

The many friends of the young couple wish them happiness and prosperity in their new home at Lizzie.

Mrs. Verna Lacy received a card from her son, Bernard, who joined the Forestry Expedition, mailed at Lordsburg, New Mexico. He is on his way to California and is enjoying his trip.

McGUIRE MEMORIAL

On Sunday, June 4th, the children of Mrs. Susan McGuire, deceased wife of James H. McGuire, aged 54 at Ebon, met with their father for a service in memory of their mother.

One daughter was unable to be present, Mrs. L. B. McClure of Dehart.
